POETRY.

WATER.

Oh, water! first in Eden's vale
With tuneful notes it flowed along,
And happy they who sank in sleep
Lulled by the music of its song.

And when, at morning's early dawn,
They woke from their delicious dream,
They blessed their God, then knelt them down,
And drank from out the crystal stream.

Pure water! Heaven's great gift to man,
Thou comest bubbling up from earth,
And dancing down the mountain's side
With a glad shout of pristine mirth.

Free as the air art thou to man;
No one can call thee all his own;
Like all God's blessings, freely given,
And round our paths profusely strown.

BOGGS' DOGS.

Did you ever hear of Jehosophat Boggs,
A dealer ant raiser of all sorts of dogs?
"No?" Then I'll endeavor in doggerel verse
To just the main points of the story rehearse.
Boggs had a good wife, the joy of his life,
There was nothing between them inclining to strife,
Except her dear J.'s dogmatic employment;
And that, she averred, did mar her enjoyment.
She often had begged him to sell off his dogs,
And instead to raise turkeys, spring chickens, or hogs.
She made him half promise at no distant day
He would sell the whole lot, not excepting old Tray;
And, as good luck would have it, but few days intervened
When, excepting old Trayle crawy kennel was cleaned.
Ah, how his dear Dolly, with a voice glad and jolly,
Did soft-soap her dear for quitting his folly.
"And now my dear J., please don't say me nay,
But the first opportunity, sell also old Tray."
"I will my dear vrow, and I solemnly vow,
I'll give you the money to buy a good cow."
And thus the case rested, till one summer night
Her dear J. came home with a heart happy and light.
Old Tray was not with him. "Ah, ha, my good wife,
This will be far the happiest day of your life."
"Oh, bless you, dear J., how much did you say,
Please tell me at once what you got for old Tray?"
"I got forty dollars." "You did?" quoth his spouse,
"Why that is a certainty will buy me two cows."
"But instead of the dollars in X's and V's,
He gives me four puppies at ten dollars apiece."

TWO AND ONE.

Two ears and only one mouth have you,
The reason I think it is clear;
It teaches, my friend, that it will not do
To talk about all you hear.

Two eyes and only one mouth have you,
The reason of this must be,
That you should learn that it will not do
To talk about all you see.

Two hands and only one mouth have you,
And it is worth while repeating,
The two are for work you will have to do,
The one is enough for eating.

An Attractive Story.

FROM THE FRENCH OF LOUISE COLET.

Nothing was to be heard for awhile in the smoky room, which served at once for kitchen, parlor and dinig-room to the pastor's poor family, but the sound of the knitting needles of the mother and the two little girls and the fainter sound of the pen of the boy, who was writing his Latin translation.

He threw himself into his work with an absorption and a rapidity which was almost feverish. It was evident that he wished to do well and quickly an uncongenial task. When he had done he heaved a sigh of relief which interrupted the universal silence.

"Well," said the pastor, raising his head, which had been weighed down by reading, meditation, or possibly by a half dose,

"There, father," said the child, placing beside the bible the written pages.

The father ran his eye over them immediately, and when he had finished, he murmured:

"Good, very good! I know, Charley, that you can do whatever you choose. That is why I blame you the more when you are disobedient."

"I will obey you," said the child, looking at his father with an expression of tenderness and supplication; "but could you not let me divide my time into two parts, one for the study of good books and of Latin, the other for the study of plants and flowers, which to me are so many psalms and hymns, singing the greatness of God?"

"You are crazy!" cried his father. "I have already told you that this childish study will come to nothing, and will interfere with your theological career. If you persist, you know my resolution on the subject, and I will not depart from it."

With these words he rose and commenced the prayer which the family made together each evening. Then the children, having kissed their father and mother, went to bed. Charley slept in a dark closet, which had for its sole furniture a bed, a chair, and a set of deal shelves, on which were arranged a few books and the beloved herbal. Hardly was he in bed when he began to weep and to think over ways of following his vocation without disobeying his father. While he was still in tears his mother came secretly; she kissed and comforted him.

"My darling," said the good mother, holding him in her arms, "it grieved you very much, then, not to be able to go any more through the snow and among the rocks, looking for the hidden plants."

"O, mamma, if you knew how delightful it is when I find a new kind, to admire it and to count the roots, the stems, the leaves, the flowers, the petals, each feature, in short, of these treasures of the good God! It is in the spring above all that this keen delight is varied and multiplied. The newly-opened flowers are for me a complete world; such as the arch which incloses the whole animal creation would be for others. The plants speak to me and I understand them. I assure you, mamma, that they have instincts, habit and differences in the same species, just as the faces of my sisters and myself are different in spite of our resemblance."

"You are dreaming, you are dreaming, my dear child," cried the mother, half laughing, and half moved. "But in this terrible cold, and with the hardness of the earth, your pleasure must be greatly lessened. You take a great deal of trouble to secure a slight and sparse result."

"O, mamma! ask the hunter if he fears the snow which falls on his shoulders. Ask the fisherman if the ice banks stop him. They only see the prey which they pursue, and which they bring home in the evening. And see," he continued, seizing one of the books of his herbal, "what would not one dare to possess one of those beautiful flowers which are here smiling at me and replying to my questions? Every day I discover some unknown species among the moss or the lichens; and my father wants me to give up these researches. He might as well have asked me not to live or eat any longer!"

"You will live and you will eat; only you will eat your breakfast an hour sooner than usual," replied his mother, gayly, "and every morning while your father is still sleeping you will go to your dear discoveries. But you must never stay beyond the allotted time, and at the appointed hour you must return at once to study your Latin."

"O, thank you, thank you," cried the child, throwing himself upon his mother's breast, who kissed him and left him saying, "Wait till to-morrow."

For the first time in his life the child went to sleep radiant with joy, and had a beautiful dream. He thought that he was suddenly transported into an immense valley surrounded with mountains which commenced in a gentle slope, and gradually rose till they reached the skies. He was seated beside a beautiful clear fountain which murmured among the plants and flowers of all sorts. It was summer, and the great white and gold clouds drifted through the intensely blue ether above his head. He had never seen such a sky in the poor Swedish village in which he was born, and which he had never quitted. His admiration was divided between the sky, where the sun shone in all his glory, and the smiling country covered with flowering shrubs and plants. He rose and began to walk, enchanted and alert, through the paths. He feared to touch a twig, a leaf, a petal, a stamen, and yet he wished to gather, one by one, each of these flowers, in order to study them. At first he eagerly inhaled their perfumes, and enjoyed the sight of their beautiful forms and their exquisite tints. Then, seized with a sort of vertigo, he cried:

"Never, never can I fix in my memory this innumerable variety of species to classify and name them."

In his discouragement he stopped motionless, and praying inwardly:

"My God! my God!" he cried, "nature is too great for the weak sight of man, and if ever he attains to a knowledge of the outward, its depth and its details would escape him. Thou hast made, O my God, creation in thine own image, and we, poor, puny creatures, would measure its grandeur and describe its beauty—it is impossible! We know but fragments of thy work, the remainder escapes us. Forgive, then, my audacity, O God! My father is right. I ought to adore and serve thee as a humble minister, and not endeavor to know thee and explain thy works like a wise partaker of thy divine nature."

The poor child, crushed by the splendor of nature which surrounded him, fell on his knees praising God, and remained long in an ecstacy.

But voices which seemed the voice of God himself rose suddenly from the open edifices of the flowers, and from the bosoms of the still unfolded buds. These voices cried to him:

"Come to us, we are thine. We love to have thee love us and seek us, to understand that we live and feel—we who have been for so long believed lifeless, inanimate, and capable only of pleasing the eye. Do not fear to gather and destroy us. We shall be born again without pain. Each of our several fibres will teach thee mysteries hardly suspected hitherto. Thou wilt find in the details of our structure as many wonders as in that of the human body, for, on a different scale, we have, like mankind, an organization that suffers and rejoices. We have our habits, our manners, our imperious destinies fixed us by unfailing laws. Look at us and understand us, thou child who lovest us. Thou shalt know how we are born, how we develop, and how we attain to beauty and love."

It was not only the large and magnificent flowers of the tropics which spoke—the cactus, the nenuphur, the magnolia. Neither was it alone the queen-flowers of the garden—the rose, the tuberose, the lily, the carnation—which spoke thus to the sleeping child. It was also all the little wild flowers, the daisy, the violet, the thyme, the buttercups, all the mosses and all the lichens growing on the rocks or beside the water. Each plant, each stem, each calix had, as it were, a distinct voice, and all these accents united formed a sweet and soothing harmony which plunged the little Charles into a delicious enchantment.

"O, yes," he cried, in answer to these mysterious words which he alone could hear, "I love you, I understand you, and I will reveal to the world the grace and the splendor of your secrets." He bent over the nearest flowers to gather them, but, behold, a miracle suddenly took place around him! All the flowers seemed to move and to tear themselves from their roots. They came toward the child, made a fragrant inclosure around him, mounted to his heart and in his arms, then to his head, where they entwined themselves into an immense crown. The face of the child shone transfigured beneath this emblem of a glorious future. He grew rapidly beneath this coronation of his beloved flowers. Suddenly he felt a warm breath glide across his face, and cause him an indescribable happiness. The sensation was so vivid that he awoke. He saw his mother standing near him, half visible in the first ray of sunshine. The kiss came from his mother, his mother who understood his soul.

"It is time," she said to him. "Day is dawning. Dress yourself, pray to God, eat your breakfast, and hasten out before your father awakes. You will have an hour in which to look for your plants. Go, my child, since it is your delight and your happiness."

The child thanked his mother, and while she helped him to dress he told her the wonderful dream which he had just had.

Without understanding it, his mother saw in it a prestige of happiness and of glory for her son, and determined to help him more and more in his vocation. As soon as he was dressed she gave him a wooden cup full of smoking porridge, which the child ate with avidity. Then she wrapped him in a little overcoat of coarse cloth, turned up the collar, which concealed the fresh face of the child as far as the ears. He sat out joyfully, stick in hand. The good mother had abridged her sleep by at least two hours for the sake of her son and to gratify his wishes.

Letter From Speaker Colfax.

It may not be inappropriate, on the threshhold of the important campaign before us, to look for a few minutes at those deeds and triumphs of our young and patriotic party which are garnered upon our national history, and which no defamation by our enemies can ignore or obscure.

When the Rebellion, with its Democratic President, Democratic Cabinet officers, and Democratic Generals, threw down the gauntlet at the feet of the nation they had resolved to destroy, and when the Democratic leaders of the North, in reply, shouted "No coercion." It was the Union Republican party that wrote on its banners, "The last man and the last dollar if need be;" and the unconquerable armies their Congressional legislation called to the field, finally "coerced" the Rebellion into subjection.

In the darkest days of the struggle, when at every street-corner we were tauntingly told by Democrats, "You can't conquer the South," there was one party that never despaired of the Republic; and that party was the one whose Delegates now meet at our State Capital.

When unprecedented and onerous taxation became necessary to maintain our credit, to pay and supply our heroic soldiers, and to keep our flag flying in the field, we dared to defy the prejudice which every Democratic speaker and editor attempted to inflame against the burdens of taxation: and thus daring, triumphed.

When conscription laws became a military necessity, to fill up our regiments decemimated again and again by the bullets of the enemy and the diseases of the camp, the siege and the march, and when the land was filled with Democratic denunciations of these laws, we risked popularity, victory, and all, by defending them as bravely as our veterans defended the country in the field.

When Mr. Lincoln at last struck at Slavery as the cause of all our woes, as well as the right arm of the Rebellion, and when Democratic orators and writers most scandelously and persistently caluminated us as having converted the war for the Union into an abolition war to free negroes, we fearlessly allied our cause to that of the humble and the helpless, and Providence rewarded us for our fidelity by that brilliant succession of triumphs which gave salvation to the Union, as well as freedom to the slave.

When the National Convention of our opponents at Chicago dared to hang out the white flag of surrender, by proclaiming the war a failure, and demanding an immediate cessation of hostilities, we promptly accepted the issue. And the soldier with his cartridge-box, and the voters with the ballot-box, united in stamping their indignant condemnation on the disgraceful avowal.

When the Government was compelled to issue bonds by the hundreds of millions for the perservation of our national existence, Democrats ridiculed them as worthless, and cautioned the people against risking their means in them. But the loyal people were deaf to their warnings; and now the same party denounce them as having made too good an investment in their purchase.

When "greenbacks" were authorized by a Republican Congress, who can forget the Democratic predictions that it would ultimately take a hatful of them to buy a hat? And now they have the assurance to seek to make political capital out of their popularity.

When the XXXIXth Congress rejected the President's policy of reconstruction, and insisted on one which should embody constitutional guarantees for the future, with full protection for all who loved the flag and the Union, our enemies denounced us as wishing to postpone reconstruction. Now these same Democrats with their ally, the President, are striving to put every possible stumbling block in the way of the return of these self exiled States.

When "the XIVth Article" was proposed as an amendment to the Constitution—embodying no mandatory suffrage enactment, but protecting equally the civil rights of all, native-born and naturalized; making a voter in Indiana just as potential as one in South Carolina, and no more; and barring the door of the Treasury against any pavements for emancipated slaves or the rebel debt—the whole Democratic party denounced it, and urged the South to spurn it, as they did. Now the two Democratic States of Kentucky and Maryland demand payment, out of the people's taxes in the Treasury, for the slaves the nation emancipated; and the two Democratic Legislatures of Ohio and New Jersey endeavor to withdraw the assent of those States to this beneficent Constitutional Amendment, leaving the door open for the presentation of these Democratic claims if a Democratic Congress could be chosen.

Nor is this all. The President, now in full sympathy with the same Democratic party which opposed his election—the same person, who, as a candidate, declared that treason should be made odious, but who, as Chief Magistrate, is the hope and admiration of every rebel in the land—whose oath binds him "to take care that the laws be faithfully executed," and who keeps it by striking down officer after officer for the performance of this duty—who retains in office and under salary as his Attorney-General a gentleman who says publicly that he will not appear before the Court to defend "the laws" from hostile attack (despite his anti-Stanton message, in which he claims that these Executive officers should be in unison with him)—stands at last self-convicted before the country as having striven to induce the General of our Armies to defy a law he did not himself dare to resist. Signally failing in this, his Democratic supporters unite in bitter denunciations of that single-hearted and illustrious officer with epithets which I will not soil these pages by repeating. But the heart of the country, always generous and just, turns toward this gallant and slandered commander, with even more affection than before, and longs for the hour when, at the ballot-box, the people will vindicate his fair fame from these maligant aspersions, and call him to that seat of power and responsibility which has been honored by the Father of the Country that our greatest soldier saved.

And the Congress, to whose fidelity and inflexible firmness the nation, despite the criticism of friend or foe, owes the prevention of rebel reconstruction in the South, will, instead of taking any backward step, "speak to the people that they go-forward," until every star on our banner, paled though they may have been by treason, shall shine with that brilliancy which only loyalty insures.

—A scandalous pamphlet has been published in Paris, asserting that the Empress Eugenie had an illegitimate child before marrying the Emperor; that this child is in England, in the hands of persons who are constantly levying black-mail on her Majesty, and that her famous trip to England was solely caused by her desire to hush up the clamor of the above mentioned parties.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

SATURDAY, MARCH 7, 1868.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION.

The great bugbear with our Democratic friends is "Equal Suffrage." There are a few Republicans perhaps, quite willing to be humbugged and play into the hands of the Democracy on this issue. They will repent their vote yet in sackcloth and ashes.

Who ever votes against the great party of justice and liberty on this issue, may as well count themselves outside of the Republican party. They need never look for any office or favors of the party hereafter. If they abandon the party on a vital issue now, can they reasonably expect it? They go over to the sham Democracy soul and body. The coming county and State Conventions will declare for the new Constitution and equal suffrage. The National Convention will do the same at Chicago. Gen. Grant is in favor of equal suffrage. So is Sheridan and Meade. Says the gallant Sherman: "If you admit the negro to this struggle for any purpose, he has a right to stay in for all; and when the fight is over, the hand that drops the musket cannot be denied the ballot."

In this State 1060 colored men took up the musket and fought for the salvation of the Country. In the case of many, their bones lie bleaching on Southern soil, martyrs of a blessed cause. Shall we be so ineffably mean as to deny the war worn veterans who have returned with tattered flags the ballot? Shall we be so cruelly unjust as to deny them a participation in the Government they sought to save and perpetuate? Shall we tax these men, make them bear the burdens of government and not enjoy its political benefits? It don't seem possible that any body but Jail birds or State Prison subjects would condescend to such a despicable act. To do it in this land of Christian civilization a person must "harden his neck," drown his conscience, unman himself, trample beneath his feet the precepts of Jesus Christ. He can't deposite his vote without the consciousness of having performed an action that will haunt his conscience, and make him feel mean every time it recurs to him.

The better class of Democrats see the injustice. Hon. G. W. N. Lothrop, one of the leading Democrats in the recent Constitutional Convention, said:

"Mr. President—I have always been in favor of giving the right of suffrage to all the people of a State, with only such restrictions as the public welfare and public interest might seem to demand. With reference, therefore, to the people of color, in this State, I have, from the time I entered public life, been in favor of conferring upon them the privilege of suffrage.

"I was in favor of it before the adoption of the present Constitution; I was in favor of it when the present Constitution was adopted: I am in favor of it to-day, because, in my judgment, the number and condition of the people of color of this State, do not properly authorize any restriction as against them. * * * I shall vote, as I always have voted, in favor of removing this restriction, because I do not believe there was ever any good ground for maintaining it in this State. I believe, as I said in the outset, that suffrage should be universal, with only such limitations as the public welfare demand. In this State, the people of color are so few in number, and have such reasonable intelligence, that there is no ground for apprehending any difficulty from granting them the elective franchise. My own judgment, 30 years ago, reached the conclusion that the right of suffrage should be extended to this class of people."

Our own member of the Constitutional Convention, Hon. L. D. Norris, a Democrat, one of the foremost men in that body, offered an amendment giving suffrage to all men who could read and write. Had we been a member of the Convention we should have voted for the amendment. Such a restriction embracing the entire body politic, white and black, we believe to be just. This shows that Mr. Norris is not governed by the prejudices against color. Nor are the more intelligent in the Democratic party. Those dyed in ignorance, are they who damn the negro. These are they who tauntingly ask: "would you marry a wench?" These are they who would have joined the mad throng who surrounded the Son of God, crying, "crucify him, crucify him." Not Pilate, nor Caiphus, not the intelligent leaders of the Democracy, not Norris, nor Lothrop, nor Story, nor Woodruff. They would wash their hands of his blood and let their blind followers imbrue themselves in the guilt of the colored man's political degredation. The Times advocated giving the colored man his rights. Our cotemporary in an article, not long since, did the same. It is true, both have backslid, but it is not on account of color. What is it? Political jealousy is the "green eyed monster." If enfranchising the colored men would accrue to the benefit of the Democratic party and help carry Ypsilanti, Woodruff would set up o'nights to write editorials in behalf of the measure. The leaders would cry themselves hoarse for it. Here is the pinch and they artfully avail themselves of the prejudices of the ignorant and the baser sort to defeat it. They know better than to try this game upon intelligent Republicans. They shout, "nigger! nigger!" to those Republicans only, whom they imagine have no mind of their own and are easily swayed by prejudices. Men biased sooner by a senseless cry than by argument. They very well know that if there be an intelligent reading Republican who denounces and will vote against equal suffrage, that he will do it, as Nasby says, from "sheer cussedness," because he thinks that he is not duly appreciated by the party. In the April election the sublime principles of justice, as between man and man, irrespective of party, is in issue. Every voter who adopts as his rule of action the golden rule, will vote for the revised Constitution. "Do unto others as ye would that others do unto you."

Hopkins, White Lake; Things of Beauty, Anna LeBaron, Saline; Radicals, Mary J. Melville, Sherman; Our Mission, W. H. Palmer, Ypsilanti: Quartette, "The Bridge of Sighs," Hutchinson; Every Day Thought, S. Eliza Phillips, Ypsilanti; Advancement, Alice Smith, Novi; The Grammer of Life, Emma Smith, Novi; Glee, "The Whippoorwill," B F. Baker; Shamocracy, J. D. Turnbull, Chelsea; Unseen Agencies, Lottie A. White, Coldwater; Patient Continuance, Belle Widner, Wyandotte; Solo and Chorus, "Inflammatus," from Rossini's Stabat Mater.

We are indebted to a friend for the following comments upon the exercises:

Prayer by Rev. Mr. Hewitt. Miss Bacon took her hearers back to the old nest home, childhood's memories, ought to be grateful to memories wings. All use wings of the imagination. If realized, there would be many Washingtons and Newtons. She paid a high tribute to the thought wings of earth's noblest heroes. Welcome those whom thought makes free. We need men and women who will have wings and use them.

Miss Gardner started out in a practical sort of way, telling what she intended to prove. Compared the light of the tallow candle to that of the gas light and applied the comparison to the light of truth of other days to that of the present. The hottest love grows soonest cold. The early lines of beauty turn to sharp angles. Not all objects can bear the full glare of the gas light. Such prefer the light of the old tallow candle. Never fear, classmates, the light which is before you. Choose ye the candle or the gas light.

Mr. Dunlap spoke of the old system of teaching and its relations to the present system. Good thoughts as to what is the most desirable in a teacher for the young. The child loves to learn, and if he does not it is the fault of the teacher, not the taught. Happy is the man who stores his mind with useful facts, his declining years will be the pleasantest of his life.

Miss Hopkins described the old song, "Jack and Jill went up the hill, after a pail of water, Jack fell down and broke his crown, and Jill came tumbling after." Miss H. gave some happy hits and illustrations concerning the hills we climb or attempt to, and the falls we receive. Many an ambitious politician after reaching a high position upon the political hill, falls for want of principle. The falls while ascending the hill of matrimoney, were also described.

Miss LeBaron described beauty as a joy forever. It is the love of the beautiful that advances the higher arts. The beautiful is scattered over the whole world. By little acts of kindness and deeds of love may we make beautiful the life of many. There may be beauty in the face, but far more in the true heart and soul.

Miss Melville depicted the genuine radical as the true benefactor of man. Principles are imperishable. The Conservative minister bows politely to the Devil for fear, as it might seem, of offending him. Everything goes to prove eternal progress. A retired reformer is something new. Gave many sharp hits. Learn to labor and wait.

Mr. Palmer stated that everything has its mission. Even the tiny flower growing almost unnoticed by the wayside. Man has a mission. He is, and must, of necessity, be a teacher. Let him always prove true. The noblest tribute to a man's worth is, He performed his mission.

Quartette, "Bridge of Sighs" sung by Mr. Lee, Mr. Baker, Miss Rice and Miss Florence Brinkerhoff, was really beautiful.

Miss Phillips. The every day thought of the laborer may become a power for good, does he but think of something beside the wants of temporal life. Thoughts are tangible. Inventions are the result of laborious thought. The acme of our hopes is reached by earnest every day thought.

Miss A. Smith tells us the true aim of life must be advancement. Shall we be among those who fold their arms and do nothing for the advancement of ourselves or others. Let our watchword be advancement.

Miss E. Smith gave quite an amusing account of the Grammar she first studdied—Murray's. The world a vast Grammar. Only one Future. The Present Tense is the one for us to study.

Mr. Turnbull calls the Aristocracy of America, Shamocracy. Gave his peculiar ideas of fashionable young ladies and gentlemen.

Miss White spoke of the unseen agencies as exerting a powerful and controlling influence. The more silent, the more powerful. If they be for good, we praise them the more. If for evil then the more to be feared. Shun contact with evil. Coals will blacken.

Miss Widner admires patient continuance. It is said nineteen old men touching hands reach back to the time of Christ. Sixty such extend back to the time of Adam. Work and wait is the order of all animate beings. A fortune won in a day is lost in a day. We are in haste for everything. All good will come to those who are willing to wait. Many good thoughts and much good advice given.

The Principal, Prof. Mayhew, is eminently in his proper sphere. He developed this fact in his noble charge to the class. A father about to bid farewell to a son, seeking a westward home says, "don't forget God." In this advice was summed up everything. Not grammar, algebra, chemistry now are in our thoughts, but a motto reaching beyond compassing all human science: "Don't forget God." He criticised severely those who would shut God out of the schools. One of the graduating class, Mr. Palmer, presented to the President, with much feeling, a splendid copy of Johnson's map.

Oxygenized Air;

A CURE FOR

CATARRH,

AND DISEASES OF THE THROAT AND LUNGS,

APPLIED BY

Dr. C. L. Blood,

No. 9 Montgomery Place,

BOSTON, MASS.

CHRONIC CATARRH,

Why entertain this loathsome disease when relief can be obtained? We meet those every day who are suffering from Catarrh to such an extent, that the Air Passages in the head are in a partly decomposed condition,—the nose and throat filled with such a mass of corrupt matter that they are objects of disgust to themselves, and of pity to those with whom they associate.

Chronic Catarrh usually affects the head, fauces and bronchial tubes. It is invariably of a mucous or inflammatory blood, by which the mucous membrane is made sore or inflamed, producing a copious effusion of viscid matter. If it be produced by Scrofula in the blood it is almost certain to end in Consumption, unless speedily cured, because it is impossible to entirely prevent the matter from running down the Bronchial into the air vesicles, and such is the excoriating or scalding property of the matter, its contact with the delicate linings of the air cells at once causes inflammation, and invites the humor alproperties of the blood to deposit therein Tubercles and Ulcers.

Catarrh almost always attends Consumption, and frequently leads to it.

In Oxygenized Air we have a positive cure for this disease. The remedy is taken by inhalation,—breathed directly into the lungs, and through them carried into the blood; thus as soon as the blood will carry it, it reaches all parts of the system, decomposing the impure matter in the blood and expelling it through the pores, and through the natural channels from the system. Thus you will see that the cause of the disease is removed, and the disease itself must follow.

In the same manner we treat and radically cure Bronchitis and Consumption. Let no one suffering from these diseases despair of relief. If you are too far away to visit our office and see us personally, write a description of your symptoms, and forward to the address below.

Send for our circular, which gives a full description of these diseases.

Out of the many thousands of testimonials received we publish the following:—

DR. C. L. BLOOD,

Dear Sir: I desire to give you my testimony in regard to the value of your scientific system of treating Catarrh and diseases of the Respiratory organs. I have used your remedy, "Oxygenized Air," in my practice for the last year with complete success. I have cured the worst forms of Catarrh, and a majority of the cases of Bronchitis and Consumption in their advanced stages. I unqualifidely pronounce "Oxygenized Air" the greatest boon ever yet conferred upon our suffering race, and hope the day is not far distant when every intelligent physician will adopt your system in the treatment of all forms of chronic affections.

Fraternally yours,
L. M. LEE, M. D.
No. 109 Westminister Street, Providence,

DR. C. L. BLOOD,

My Dear Sir: I have tested your remedy, "Oxygenized Air" in advanced stages of Catarrh, Bronchitis and Consumption, and the results have been, in the highest sense, satisfactory; so positive am I of its wonderful power to arrest the progress of the above named diseases, that I can conscientiously advise all who may be suffering from them to place themselves under the treatment at once.

Respectfully yours,
Rev. R. TOMLINSON,

Great United States Tea Warehouse

OF

T. Y. KELLEY & CO.,

30 VESEY STREET, N. Y.

Are now supplying families throughout the United States with Teas, through the system of clubs and their regular appointed agents, at a slight advance on cargo prices, and guaranteeing their Teas to be pure and fresh, and also to give entire satisfaction, or they can be returned and the money refunded.

The advantage of buying Teas from our Warehouse is: you save the various profits of Speculators, Brokers, Wholesale Tea Merchants, Jobbers, Wholesale Grocers and Retailers, which in the aggregate, amount to from 50 cents to $1.00 per pound, and also are sure of getting the same quality and standard every time.

Our standard goods all bear our Trade Mark on the bags, and no others are genuine. Parties will please bear this mind, as our great success has induced some unprincipled parties in New [illegible] and other places to imitate [illegible] goods hoping they dare to—to entrap the unwary.

PRICE LIST.

OOLONG, [Black] 60, 70, 80, 90, $1.00 per lb., Best.

MIXED, [Green and Black] 60, 70, 80, 90, $1.00 per lb, Best.

YOUNG HYSON, [Green] 60, 70, 80, 90 $1.00, $1.10, $125 per lb., Best.

IMPERIAL, [Green] 90, $1.00, $1.25.

ENG. BREAKFAST, [Black] 70, 80, 90, $1.00, $1.10, $1.20, Best.

JAPAN, 90, $1.00, $1.25 per lb.

GUNPOWDER, $1.25, $1.50 per lb.

We are Sole Importers of the famous

Shantung Moyune Young Hyson and Kiangsi Oolong Teas.

These Teas take their name from the districts in which they are grown, and being the finest productions of China, are used almost exclusively by the Imperial Court and High State Officers. They are put up in the unique and beautiful style of the Chinese in one pound packages, and we will sell them in the original packages at cargo prices; the Hyson at $1.60; the Oolong at $1.30. We imported the first invoice that has reached this country, and have effected arrangements through our agents in China to receive them regularly hereafter.

FANCY BRANDS.

Having had many calls from our trade for a fancy brand of Oolong and Young Hyson Teas, we have been induced to put up in one pound sealed packages a fancy flavored NING YONG OOLONG and NANKIN MOYUNE YOUNG HYSON, which we are offering at $1.25 per pound for Oolong and $1.50 for Young Hyson. The only advantage these Teas possess over our regular styles is the fancy flavor.

A NOVELTY IN TEAS.

Teas sixty days from Japan.

We are now receiving Uncolored Japan Teas by way of Pacific Mail Steam Ship Co's new route, direct from Yokakoma via San Francisco. Put up for us in Japan in one pound packages. The usual time allowed for a cargo of Teas from Japan is one year and a half, but American enterprise has enabled us to offer to our customers, Japan Teas as fresh as the natives themselves can procure them. Owing to the heavy freights, we are obliged to charge $1.40 per pound.

GROUND COFFEES.

PURE RIO, 20, 25 and 30 cents per pound.

BEST OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA, 40 cents per pound.

ROYAL CLUB—Extra fine—36 cents.

In order to meet the demands of the people of Ypsilanti and vicinity we have appointed Smith Bros. agents for the sale of our Teas and Coffees. All goods are put up by ourselves in one pound packages at our Warehouse in New York and retailed at Ypsilanti by Smith Bros. at a small advance of 5 cents a pound over our New York prices. This brings our goods at the prices they can be purchased over our counters, with the freight added. We solicit a fair and thorough trial.

Snow Storm.

East and West comes the same tale of the great storm. The night of March 1st, 1868, will be long remembered. Monday morning the residents woke to find themselves literally snowed in. The like was never seen by the oldest inhabitant. We have resided in the State, save at occasional intervals, since 1836. The winter of 1843 was a tedious one, plenty of snow. Electors went to Town meeting on runners. But in quantity of snow falling within the space of ten hours, last Sunday night caps the climax in Michigan. The average depth was about 18 inches, but the drifts on the side walks and in the streets reached from three to four feet. Business, Monday forenoon, came to a standstill. The Union School and the Normal closed doors. Citizens had their hands full to shovel a path way out to the street. The City Marshall, with full force, had more than he could do to meet the residents at their gates. Several parties from the country trying to reach the city on horseback to secure medical services, had their horses fast in the drifts, and were obliged to seek help to rescue them, and trudge their way into town on foot.

Amusements.

THE GREAT APOCALYPSE ON TUESDAY NEXT. AN ORIGINAL AND EXTRAORDINARY EXHIBITION.—An exhibition called the Apocalypse, or the Visions of St. John, as described in the Book of Revelations, opens for the first time in this city, in Hewitt's Mall, on Tuesday evening next. It will remain but a short time, and, presuming our readers do not understand the nature of the entertainment, we insert the following explanation of the general character of the entertainment:

This exhibition commences with a scene representing St John on the Isle of Patmos; then following the vision of the seven golden candlesticks, and one like unto the Son of Man; the angels of the seven churches then appear, with views of the ancient cities of Ephesus, Smyrna, Pergamos, Thyatira, Sardis and the churches of Philadelphia and Laodicea; then comes the great vision of a door in heaven opened showing the throne, beasts, elders and the sea of glass; then appears the Lamb, with the book of seven seals, and the vision of the white, red and black horse, and death on a pale horse, the souls of the slain under the altar, and the great day of His wrath.

After this are the vision of the four angels holding the winds that they should not blow, and the great multitude before throne, and the seven angels with the seven trumpets, followed by the vision of the seven plagues, and the Temple of God opened in Heaven. Then is seen the great wonder of Heaven, a woman clothed with the sun, standing on the moon, with a crown of twelve stars, and the great red dragon with seven heads and ten horns. There is a war in Heaven with the dragon, and he is cast out. The beast with seven heads and ten horns is now seen rising from the sun, and lo, and behold! the Lamb on Mount Zion with the one hundred and thirty-four thousand harping with harps. The Son of Man upon a white cloud, and the great wine press of the Wrath of God concludes this portion of the exhibition. The last part shows the seven angels with the seven vials containing the seven plagues, with the visions of the seven as the vials are poured out; then is seen the woman dressed in purple and scarlet, sitting on the scarlet beast with seven heads and ten horns; the ruins of Rabylon and Satan chained and cast into the bottomless pit; the whole exhibition closing with the vision of "The Last Judgment," and the new Jerusalem descending from Heaven, with a street in the new Jerusalem, shewing the river of life and the trees of life, golden pavement, magnificent palaces with jeweled columns and gilded domes, the whole forming a scene of unparalleled beauty, it seeming to the beholder one perfect blaze of glory, and representing the future home of the Christian.

Will meet to-night at the City Hall. Good speakers will be present.

Mooreville Correspondence.

On Friday night last, a little son of Mr. Thomas White, aged about eight years, had the misfortune to break a leg while riding down hill on a sled. On the night of the same day, the house of W. H. Berdan, four and a half miles from this place, was destroyed by fire. The fire is said to have originated through a defective pipe. At the time of the fire the family were attending the ball at the hotel in Mooreville. Insured at $1400.

On Saturday, the house of Andrew McKinnie, in the township of Saline, was also consumed by fire. Loss about $1500. No insurance.

The ball given by Warner and Johnson in honor of Washington's birthday, was well attended. The best of good feeling prevailed, the proprietors attending to the wants of their patrons with their usual courtesy. W. H. C. G.

Mad Dogs.

Last Saturday there was a cry of "mad dogs" in our streets. A dog became mad, broke his chain, and made his way into the street—Congress St. He attacked two boys, mangling the arm of one badly, and biting the other in the thigh. He bit several other dogs before he was shot. A dog belonging to Mr. Creelman was also attacked by the same disease, but being chained was shot before doing any injury. It is said that want of water induces this terrible disease in the canine race. It is a curious fact that dogs that are chained up are more liable to be attacked.

Anna Dickinson

Lectured Wednesday evening. She made an able plea for her sex. Satire, wit and argument combined to upset the un-gallant, un-patriotic, naughty men who oppose Female suffrage, and the women who have not ambition enough to want the ballot. An earnest plea in behalf of those who have no protector, the wife of the brutal, drunken husband. Anna, you are fourth-foxt this right. We had never such a mean opinion of our mother and wife as to be afraid or ashamed to permit them to vote.

STATE AGRICULTURAL CONVENTION.

Such a Convention under the auspices of the State Society is to be held at Pontiac, next Tuesday, March 10th. The following are the topics for discussion: 1. The general condition of the agriculture of the State, with regard to the production of the great staples, and what measures are best adapted to increase them. 2. Drainage the basis of improvement of land and increase of crops. 3. The best system of mixed farming adapted to this State. 4. IMPEACHMENT.

The great event of the times is impeachment. Some people are fearful that Johnson will yet get off scott free. We think not. He is fast this time. The House has chosen its managers—Messrs. Boutwell, Butler, Wilson, Bingham, Stevens, Williams and Logan. Also fixed on the articles of impeachment to present to the Senate. The violation of the "Office of Tenure Act," is the worse one. His contempt of law prior to this, twenty-second of February speech, disgraceful speeches made while swinging around the circle. The managers have presented the articles. The following is the order of presentment to the Senate:

MR. PRESIDENT:—The managers of the House, are ready at the bar of the Senate to present articles of impeachment preferred against Andrew Johnson, President of the United States.

Sergeant-at-Arms—Hear ye! hear ye! All persons are ordered to keep silent, while the House of Representatives exhibit to the Senate articles of impeachment against Andrew Johnson.

Mr. Bingham then rose and read the articles of impeachment.

The Senate is now organized as a Court. Chief Justice Chase has taken his seat and the trial is in full blast.

Horace Greeley.

Greeley, him of the white coat, slouched hat, the socialist that was, and now is, the self-made man, appeared at Hewitt Hall a week ago last Friday evening. He gave a more flashy lecture than we expected to hear. He criticised modern education. In New York city alone, educating 3000 out of usefulness, incapable of taking care of themselves.

Solon Goodell.

We had at the time a notice written in reference to the loss of his barn and sheds by fire. He has our sincere sympathy in his loss. Happily the stock were saved.

Rain!

At this date, Friday 1 o'clock P. M., rain is descending smartly. The drifts of snow are dissolving. It looks as if we should soon have to fight the dangerous elements, the floods, more desperately than the snow drifts.

Fears of Foul Play.

A man by the name of L. Smith, a pedler of cloths and dry goods, who has stopped several times with H. and M. P. Holmes, two miles north of the city, the 17th of Feb. last requested them to keep his team for two or three days while he went to Detroit. They have not heard from him since, and are fearful that something has happened to him.—Not long since he purchased some tobacco of the above parties, and consigned it to H. Levi Detroit. This is all they know in reference to him. A good team, wagon and goods are waiting his order at the Messrs. Holmes. Detroit papers please copy.

"THE SWEETEST THING IN LIFE" is good health and good spirits, and if you have them not, the next best is what will restore bloom to the faded cheek and happiness to the drooping heart. The great and sure remedy is Plantation Bitters, which our Physicians recommend to both male and female patients as a safe, reliable, agreeable and cordial stimulant. They contain nothing to disagree with the most delicate constitution, and have won golden opinions from all who have tried them; and probably no article was ever tried by by so many persons. They elevate the depressed and give strength to the weak. 209-2w.

The American Cooking Stove In Court.

At an adjourned term of the Circuit Court of the United States, for the Northern District of New York, in the second circuit held at the City Hall, in the city of Albany, the 28th day of January, in the year of our Lord 1868.

PRESENT:
The Honorable Nathan K. Hall, Judge.
J. H. Shear & J. Packard, vs. G. B. Bull & J. M. Rockwell, } In Equity.

It is further ordered, adjudged and decreed that a perpetual injunction be issued in this suit against the defendants, restraining them from further infringements of said Patent, No. 51,406, dated Dec. 5th, 1865, for improvements in cooking stoves, pursuant to and in accordance with the prayer of the Bill of Complaint.

Signed A. A. BOYCE, Clerk.

The above suit was instituted for infringement of the Patent securing the manner of ting the ash pan in the hearth of the merican Cooking Stove, and for the comination of the bailed ash pan. We have epeatedly cautioned the public against selling or using stoves with these improvements not manufactured by us. All persons now selling or using stoves with these improvements in violation of the above injunction, without license from us, will be liable to fine and imprisonment.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA

IS a concentrated extract of the choice root, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effectual antidote for diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. Such a remedy is surely wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove, as this has proved, of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it, has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found in the following complaints:—

Scrofula, Scrofulous Swellings and Sores, Skin Diseases, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Eruptions, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, &c.

Syphilis or Venereal Disease is expelled from the system by the prolonged use of this SARSAPARILLA, and the patient is left in comparative health.

Female Diseases are caused by scrofula in the blood, and are often soon cured by this EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA.

Do not reject this invaluable medicine, because you have been imposed upon by something pretending to be Sarsaparilla, while it was not. When you have used AYER'S—then, and not till then, will you know the virtues of Sarsaparilla. For minute particulars of the diseases it cures, we refer you to Ayer's American Almanac, which the agent below named will furnish gratis to all who call for it.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS, for the cure of Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Heartburn arising from Disordered Stomach, Pain or Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulence, Loss of Appetite, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, and as a Dinner Pill, are unequalled.

They are sugar coated, so that the most sensitive can take them with pleasure and they are the best Aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

For a Cure of all Throat and Lung Diseases

Is a thin, transparent, oily fluid, extracted by chemical processes from purified juices of the Olive and Pine. The magnetic or concentrated curative power existing in Stafford's Olive Tar renders it an instantaneous and efficient Specific for

BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, ASTHMA, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, AND ALL FORMS OF CONSUMPTION, WHEN IT IS TAKEN, APPLIED, OR INHALED.

RHEUMATIC and NEURALGIC, or any other EXTERNAL PAINS cease when OLIVE TAR is applied.

The astonishing success which has attended the use of Olive Tar, when its healing qualities are brought in contact with the Throat and Bronchial Tubes, and all the air cells of the Lungs, unquestionably proves it to be a Specific for all Pulmonary Diseases.

Below are a few of the many distinguished gentlemen who use and recommend the Olive Tar:

THE CURATIVE BALSAM is Warranted, if used according to Directions, to cure or relieve in all cases, Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma, and all affections of the Throat and Lungs.

Madame ZADOO PORTER'S BALSAM is a purely Vegetable Expectorant, prepared with great care and scientific skill, from a combination of the best remedies the vegetable kingdom affords.

Its remedial qualities are based on its power to assist the healthy and vigorous circulation of the Blood through the Lungs

It enlivens the muscles and assists the skin to perform the duties of regulating the heat of the system, and in gently throwing off the waste substance from the surface of the body.

It lessens the phlegm, induces free spitting, and will be found VERY AGREEABLE TO THE TASTE. It is not a violent remedy, but emollient, warming, searching and effective; and can be taken by the oldest person or youngest child.

If you have a Cold, if ever so slight, do not fail to give the Balsam a trial, as the very low price at which it is sold brings it within the reach of every one, that they may always keep it convenient for use. The timely use of a 25 cent bottle will often prove it to be worth a hundred times its cost.

The 75 cent bottle is more profitable to the consumer, as it contains four times the quantity contained in the small bottle.

AS AN APERIENT,

There is no medicine so much in favor with those who are acquainted with their action as Roback's Blood Pills; they are safe, pleasant and mild in their operation, and are purely vegetable; can be taken by children as well as adults; try them. C. C. Kingsbury agent Ypsilanti.

BAD TASTE

In the mouth in the morning is one of the symptoms of a billious condition or disordered state of the liver, and should not for a single day, be neglected; as it is but the premonitory symptom of a train of evils and the very seeds of disease. Procure at once Roback's Blood Pills, administer them according to the directions accompanying each box, and the difficulty and danger of diseases will at once be removed. C. C. Kingsbury, agent, Ypsilanti,

NOT A BEVERAGE.

Unlike most of the bitters of the present day, Dr. Roback's are not intended as a pleasant stimulating whisky beverage, but are perfectly medicinal, containing only sufficient pure bourbon whisky to hold in solution the medicinal extractive matter from which they are composed. C. C. Kingsbury, agent, Ypsilanti. 209-3m

ERYSIPELAS,

Or, St. Anthony's Fire, can be most effectually eradicated by the use of Roback's Blood Purifier in conjunction with Roback's Blood Pills. C. C. Kingsbury, agent Ypsilanti.

OPTHALMIA,

Or, Inflammation of the Eyes, not unfrequently arises from a disordered state of the stomach; a few doses of Roback's Blood Pills will, in most cases, effect a cure by removing the cause. C. C. Kingsbury, agent Ypsilanti

Keep Your Blood Pure.

There are no remedies, now before the public, so well calculated to purify the blood and reconstruct (so to speak) the whole system as Roback's Blood Purifier, Blood Pills and Stomach Bitters. C. C. Kingsbury, agent, Ypsilanti.

LEUCORRŒA,

Or, Whites, which follow local debility and constitutional weakness, can be effectually cured by the use of Roback's Stomach Bitters. Do not let the druggist sell you any other remedy, as these Bitters are prepared with especial reference to this complaint, and are warranted to cure. C. C. Kingsbury, agent, Ypsilanti.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS.

As a remedy to soothe all nervous excitement, and in its truest sense, a NERVINE, their is, perhaps, no medicine extant which is received with so much favor as Roback's Stomach Bitters; a wine glass full on going to bed is all that is required to produce sound and healthful sleep. AN INVALUABLE MEDICINE
FOR THE PURIFYING OF THE BLOOD.
DR. J. W. POLAND'S
HUMOR DOCTOR.
A Positive Remedy for all Kinds of Humors, PARTICULARLY
Erysipelas, Nettle-Rash, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Carbuncles, Boils, and Piles.

It is very easy to say of this, or of any other medicine, "It is the very best remedy known." It is not always so easy to prove it. It is, however, exceedingly gratifying to the Proprietor of this medicine, that, while he delares to the public that this is a most wonderful and effective specific for Humors, as stated above, he has abundant proof at hand to sustain his statement.

For sixteen years the HUMOR DOCTOR has been manufactured and sold, and every year has increased the value of its reputation, and the amount of its sales. In New Hampshire, where it originated, no remedy for Humors is so highly prized. An eminent physician (now an army surgeon) when practising in New Hampshire, purchased between fifty and sixty gallons of it, during some seven or eight years, and used it in his practice. He has since then ordered it for the hospital where he was stationed. Other physicians have purchased it, and have used it in practice with great success. When the Proprietor lived in New Hampshire, at Goffstown Centre, for the space of thirty or forty miles around, and in Manchester particularly, the HUMOR DOCTOR was well known and highly valued for the numerous and wonderful cures which it effected. Though manufactured in large quantities the supply was frequently exhausted, and purchasers had to wait for more to be made. In that region some very severe cases of Erysipelas were treated with it—and they were cured! Erysipelas sores, or carbuncles, those ugly, painful ulcers, were entirely removed wherever this medicine was faithfully used. So it was with Scrofula and Salt Rheum. The HUMOR DOCTOR cured them.

For the sake of showing what is thought of it, a few testimonials are here inserted:

Milton Gale, Esq., Boston.

I hereby certify that I was sorely afflicted with boils for two years, developing themselves upon my limbs and other parts of my body. The sufferings which I endured from them are indescribable. Suffice it to say that I faithfully tried several of the most popular humor remedies, but without removing the affliction. At length, by the earnest request of an intimate friend, I was induced to try Dr. J. W. Poland's Humor Doctor, and am very happy to attest that all my boils were removed, and my health was restored by using Dr. Poland's celebrated medicine.
BOSTON, Jan. 14, 1858. MILTON GALE.

Mrs. Wheeler, Stoneham, Mass.

I very confidently and earnestly recommend Dr. J. W. Poland's Humor Doctor as an excellent remedy for Humors, having been wonderfully benefited by it myself. My own case was a very severe and obstinate one. For more than two years the skin upon the inside of both my hands, and even down on the wrist, was continually cracked and broken up, so that I was unable to use my hands in any kind of wet work, and was obliged to wear gloves in sewing to avoid getting blood upon my work. The humor which so afflicted me was probably a combination of Erysipelas and Salt Rheum. My general health was good, when, upon advice, I began to use the Humor Doctor. I could perceive signs of healing. I continued to take the medicine till I was finally cured. My hands are now perfectly free from humors, and to all appearances my whole system is clear of it, and has been for several months. I used eight bottles before I felt safe to give it up entirely, but they cured me.
HARRIET WHEELER.
STONEHAM, Mass., July 5, 1856.

Mrs. Porter, Dover, N. H.

DOVER, N. H., July 22, 1855.
DR. POLAND: I received your letter inquiring as to the effects of your medicine on sea-sickness. I am happy to say that I think it is "the medicine" for that dreadful sickness. I tried various prescriptions, but found none that settled the stomach and cleared the head like the Humor Doctor. I felt as though I could hardly wait to get ashore, to entreat you to introduce it into ship chandlery stores, that it may find its way to those who suffer upon the mighty deep from sea-sickness. If captains who take their families with them, or carry passengers, should try it for once, they would never be willing to voyage without it.
Yours, HARRIET M. PORTER.

Much more might be stated in relation to this medicine, as contained in testimonials, but it is needless. Ask Manchester druggists about it, especially E. W. Blake, at Burr's. Inquire of Mr. Henry Plumer, of Bedford, whose wife was cured by it of Salt Rheum. Ask almost any person in Goffstown, and they will declare its value as a remedy, as used in their own cases or by their friends.

HALL'S
Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer

Has stood the test of seven years trial by the public; and no preparation for the hair yet discovered will produce the same beneficial results. It is a new scientific discovery, combining the most powerful and restorative agents in the VEGETABLE KINGDOM. It restores GRAY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL YOUTHFUL COLOR. It makes the scalp white and clean; cures dandruff and humors, and falling out of the hair; and will make it grow upon bald heads, except in very aged persons, as it furnishes the nutritive principle by which the hair is nourished and supported. It makes the hair moist, soft, and glossy, and is unsurpassed as a HAIR DRESSING. It is the cheapest preparation ever offered to the public, as one bottle will accomplish more and last longer than three bottles of any other preparation.

It is recommended and used by the First Medical Authority.

The wonderful results produced by our Sicilian Hair Renewer have induced many to manufacture preparations for the Hair, under various names; and in order to induce the trade and the public to purchase their compounds, they have resorted to falsehoods, by claiming they were former partners, or had some connection with our Mr. Hall, and their preparation was similar to ours. Do not be deceived by them! Purchase the original: it has never been equalled. Our Treatise on the Hair, with certificates, sent free by mail. See that each bottle has our private Revenue Stamp over the top of the bottle. All others are imitations.

A SURE CURE WARRANTED

GARDINER'S
RHEUMATIC
THE BEST AND THE CHEAPEST
AND NEURALGIC COMPOUND.

A WORD TO THE PUBLIC.

As the forms of disease for which Gardiner's Rheumatic and Neuralgic Compound is recommended to cure, are scrofulous, arising from impurities of the blood, let the sufferer remember that no remedy can reach him or her through the blood, that cannot reach the blood. The Compound is applied externally, and cannot reach the blood, but it does reach the seat of the disease, the nerves, the muscles, the tissues, the permanent relief is because it drives it from its stronghold, and the victim is relieved. ☞ THIS SHOULD NEVER BE FORGOTTEN.

USE GARDINER'S

Mr. H. R. GARDINER, Proprietor of Gardiner's Rheumatic and Neuralgic Compound:
Chicago, Nov. 15, 1866.
Sir:—Having been afflicted with Neuralgia in my face for six months, and having tried in vain to find relief, I was induced by a friend to try your Compound, and I can cheerfully say that it is the only remedy that has been of any benefit to me. I was troubled with the disease one year ago last winter, and was confined to the house for three months. I purchased one bottle of your Compound, and I am happy to say that one bottle cured me. I have since then had a return of the disease, but one bottle has been sufficient to effect a cure. I am now in the best of health, and recommend it to all who are troubled with neuralgia.
Yours respectfully,
A. BOOTH,
Oyster Dealer, cor. Madison and Dearborn Sts.

Dr. GARDINER, Proprietor of Gardiner's Rheumatic and Neuralgic Compound:
Chicago, Aug. 28, 1866.
Dear Sir:—It is with great pleasure that I testify to the merits of your invaluable medicine. Having been afflicted with Neuralgia for more than a year, considering it incurable, and having tried almost every remedy that could be obtained, and after suffering great anguish, I was induced by a friend to try your Rheumatic and Neuralgic Compound, and I am happy to say that one bottle cured me entirely, and I am daily recommending it to those afflicted as I was. I have used but one bottle, and have been free from pain for three months. I am now in the best of health, and recommend it to all who are troubled with neuralgia.
Yours truly,
WM. H. SMITH,
Mattison.

This wonderful Medicine is the result of the scientific research of Messrs. Merrill & Hopkins, 20 Lake St., Chicago, and is entirely vegetable in its character, and never fails to effect a cure in a single week. Wherever introduced it has given the most marked success. It has been introduced in this city but a few months, and in every instance where it has been used it has met with the most marked success. It is far superior to any other remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Pains in the Back, Kidneys, Hips, Sides, Chest, Limbs, Joints, Sprains, Bruises, Soreness, Stiffness, Numbness, Contraction of the Muscles, Cramps, Spasms, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Female Weakness, Hysterics, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Pains and Weakness in the Chest, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Want of Appetite, Biliousness, Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Nervous Debility, Female Complaints, Hysterics, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Sore Throat, Diphtheria, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Pains and Weakness in the Chest, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Want of Appetite, Biliousness, Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Nervous Debility, Female Complaints, and all diseases of a nervous character, and is recommended by all who have used it as the best remedy ever discovered for the above complaints. Being entirely vegetable, it is perfectly harmless in its effects upon the system, and is pleasant to the taste. Where the Compound is used, no other medicine is required. Where the Compound is used, no other medicine is required. Where the Compound is used, no other medicine is required
